LOCKINGTON & DISTRICT LIVING HERITAGE COMPLEX

Complex: 5486 2515 - Open Sunday's 1pm to 4pm or by appointment
 President: Kevin "Jack" Oliver - Secretary: Beryl Marshall 5486 2353
 Website: <http://www.lockingtonvic.com.au>

Hello again Everyone,

We've been reading newspaper reports from the early 1880s, to learn what life was like for the farming families who were living in our district at that time. The seasons varied, but usually tended to drought conditions, and the availability of water for stock and domestic purposes was a constant worry. However, on 4 February 1881, the Pannooobamawm correspondent of Bendigo Advertiser reported that, despite excessive heat, "Water is everywhere plentiful." Nonetheless, the ensuing weeks were dry and sultry and, on 21 March, the Age relayed a report from Echuca that the "scarcity of rain is telling severely on the farmers." This continued and, in its "Notes from the Terricks" column, the Kyneton Guardian noted that "Wild turkeys have been exceedingly numerous on the Terrick plains this season, owing no doubt to the scarcity of water which prevails across the Murray". In its issue of 23 April 1881, that newspaper added that "The majority of the dams and tanks in the [Terricks] district are now almost and in some cases, quite dry. Fortunately, however, numerous deep wells have been sunk in the district, and from these abundance of water for present requirements is obtained."

Only light and infrequent rain fell during the winter months and "Notes from the Terricks," in the Guardian on 13 August, stated that "The majority of the crops in this district are very backward this season, owing to the want of sufficient moisture and the long continuation of frosts we have experienced during the past few weeks ... all over the district." By September, the Bendigo Independent noted that "sheer starvation" was the cause of some deaths amongst stock on the northern plains. Though a few showers fell in mid-October, giving hope to the farmers in Pannoomilloo and Pannooobamawm, in the open country such as the Terricks "the crops are so backward that no favourable result can be looked for," said the Argus on 14 October 1881. Fortunately, wells had been sunk on many of the selections, so the water needs of farm households were not as desperate as had been the case some years earlier.

A new State school had been erected at Pannoomilloo. It was described as being "a most commodious edifice, capable of holding from 50 to 60 scholars," and according to the Bendigo Advertiser on 22 July 1881, it was to be provided with an underground iron tank to keep the water cool and more palatable to drink. Within weeks of the school's completion, the presence of measles in the district forced its temporary closure. The outbreak was first reported in late July at Pannoomilloo and by early August, several "very dangerous cases" were reported from the Terricks. As relayed in the Advertiser on 30 August, the illness spread quickly to Pannooobamawm and to Rochester, where unfortunately, "one or two deaths occurred...the patients having caught cold." Cases continued to occur throughout September and October and even into November, when measles had caused attendance at the Milloo East school to drop from "over 40 to under 20" by 15 November, according to the Advertiser of that date. Without local access to qualified medical attention, childhood illness could have tragic consequences as had occurred in June 1881, when the McGregor Family of Pannooobamawm lost two of their children to diphtheria.

Apart from the end-of-year school functions, only the regular cricket matches gave light relief to the dismal reports submitted to the newspapers by the local correspondents. Dry windy weather, rabbits, and caterpillars added to the farmers' woes and on 19 December 1881, the Pannoomilloo correspondent to the Bendigo Advertiser wrote that the summer which was beginning, promised "to be the driest and most unpleasant one we have spent in these northern districts." The yield from the crops was said to be insufficient to provide enough seed to sow for the following season. At the end of the year, travelling reporters for the Leader and the Australasian, visited the district to assess the seasonal crop yield. Reporting on the almost total failure of the crops, they reflected on progress made in settlement on the Terricks plains over the previous decade; particularly, the development of the villages of Mitiamo and Terrick Terrick. The reporters marvelled at the courage and tenacity of the selectors who persevered, and noted that recurrent adverse seasons had forced many to move away with their hopes and their assets seriously depleted. Some had even reverted to gold-seeking, at the recently discovered Mount Browne diggings in outback New South Wales. The settlers who carried on farming were most often those who had added to their properties by taking up the holdings abandoned by their less fortunate neighbours. With more land they could then diversify into grazing and no longer needed to depend totally on their crops, but even for them, the prospects for 1882 did not seem encouraging.

'Bye until next time,

Marg O'Brien.

NICHOL TRADING

"We know fertiliser"

Ralph and Dorothy Nichol established Nichol Trading in the late 1950's, Ralph spreading and Dorothy running the business from home whilst raising four children.

In those humble beginnings Single Super Phosphate was the only fertiliser available and once delivered via rail wagon to the small depot in Lockington. The district farmers would then be advised by telephone that spreading was being done in their area.

The 17th September 1993 saw the opening of what is currently home to the business today. The large bulk storage facility on the Northern Highway just north of Rochester also includes a custom blending facility, public weighbridge, truck wash as well as the area to house our new mechanic business and fleet of spreading, tipper and bin delivery vehicles.

Now moving into its third generation Nichol Trading remains a local, family owned business that has continued to grow from strength to strength, becoming one of the largest fertiliser retailers in northern Victoria. Our business now is the total business solution for your investment; one phone call to arrange your soil tests, recommendations, delivery and spreading.

Garlic for Flavour

Garlic is known for its pungent bulb that is used to flavour dishes throughout the ages. Garlic is also known to assist in the fight against viruses, bacteria and fungi. It is low in calories and carbohydrates and is great replacement for salt when you want flavour. Garlic is a good choice to flavour mushrooms, pasta, vegetables and stir fries. It also tastes great when used in garlic bread.

THE EDITOR'S SNAPSHOT

It's important in a small community, such as Lockington, for us all to be working together as one, rather than a lot of smaller groups doing their own things.

This is where our Community Planning Group comes in. This group basically acts as a facilitation platform for all groups, businesses and individuals to have a voice that can be heard.

What do we want to hear?

- We want to hear about what's working well, and what's not working so well. The biggest opportunities for progress and development that a community has is to fix problems that they see within their own town and district.

We also want to hear about (amongst other things)...

- What you would like to see our town and district to focus on.
- How you would like visitors to think about Lockington.
- How you want to feel about Lockington

So come along to our meeting on Monday August 16 and help map the direction for Lockington's future.

THE "LIONS BITE"

On Saturday 31st July, the Nanneella Landcare Group asked the Lockington Lions Club to cook some food on the barbecue. It was a picture perfect day weather wise with over 30 people come along to plant trees including children and 3 dogs.

I would like to thank those members who came along to help.
