CAMPASPE SHIRE COUNCILLORS LISTENED TO REASON AND DELAYED CLOSURE OF REGIONAL POOLS

With such very short notice of a looming council decision on the closure and decommissioning of the shire's regional pools, it was uplifting to witness the joining together of all of our rural towns in the fight to save our regional facilities.

Our rural towns had a strong representation in the council chambers, and great support outside the chambers, by way of protesters and a drive by of supporters. Then there were the likes of me, who couldn't get to Echuca for the meeting, who watched what they could, live streamed.

I don't think our regional communities could have got any better outcome from the council meeting. In short, no vote on the closure of pools, the CEO to come up with a community engagement timetable by April's council meeting, the community plans and place based plans to be completed by May 2023, only then will any closures will be discussed.

Let's all make sure we get actively involved in the community planning process, so that our voices are heard about the importance of our regional facilities (not just our pools). Keep watch for your local planning meetings and get along to them and have your say.

LOCKINGTON QUEEN COMPETITION

A Queen Competition is being conducted by the ladies' auxiliary of the Lockington Swimming Pool, and the auxiliary is very pleased with the response.

The five queens are — Beverley Elliott (Tennyson), Carol Coghill (Pine Grove), Averal Hammond (Kotta), Jan Gray (Bamawm), and Elaine Hewlett (Lockington).

Tennyson Queen (Beverley Elliott), commenced with a slide evening, held at the home of Mr and Mrs Fenton Phillips, Tennyson. During the evening entertainment was provided by Mesdames Sue McLean, Jean Brophy and Elaine Ayres.

Beverley and her committee organised a haphazard tennis tournament at the Tennyson courts.

Carol Coghill, the Pine Grove Queen held a Tiffany Party at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs K. R. Coghill, which proved to be an outstanding success. The committee was thrilled to receive a donation of a necklace of cultured pearls which will help to swell the funds.

The first function to be held by the Kotta Queen Miss Averal Hammond and her committee, was a coffee afternoon and mannequin parade in the lovely garden at the home of Mr and Mrs R. Bickford, Kotta. The models were Melva, Jan, and Wendy Bickford, Amanda and Susan Rolfe, Monica Spedding, Sharon, Wright, Lynette Saligari, Averal Hammond and little Ailsa Hammond.

The parade was compered by Mrs John Forbes.

A successful hayride and progressive tea was held by Miss Elaine Hewlett, the Lockington Queen. 34 teenagers boarded the trailers and their appetites were amply catered for. Singing and games were also part of the evening's entertainment.

Jan Gray the Bamawm Queen, is finding morning coffee and record parties a good way to raise funds, and successful parties have been held by Mesdames G. McAlister, N. Tonkin (president of Bamawm Committee), as well as at the home of her parents Mr and Mrs J. Gray.

The barefoot dance held at Lockington Pool proved popular with the teenagers.

SAVE OUR POOLS

SAVE OUR POOL

It was great to find, recently, this Campaspe Valley Newspaper cutting of 21 January, 1970 which highlights some of the tremendous and hard work Lockington and districts went to in order to have a swimming pool built.

It felt important then, as it is now, to have a pool for teaching people to swim and ultimately save lives, not to mention the social interaction.

Dedicated people worked hard to have a pool, and now it is important for us to work hard to save our pool.

Beryl Marshall.

Hello again Everyone,

We've been reading early newspaper reports of the conditions that faced the farming families who lived in our district more than 130 years ago, in 1887 to be more precise. As the season progressed that year, somewhat surprisingly, rain seemed to fall as and when needed. On 14 October, the Kerang Times and Swan Hill Gazette carried a report from Pannooabamawm, that wildflowers grew "in great profusion and of many kinds and colours." The prospects for the coming harvest looked better than had been the case for several years, so it must have come as a great disappointment, just two weeks later, when the crops were attacked by red rust. Then, on 5 November, the Weekly Times reported the presence of the "farmers' dread – take-all" in the district.

Added to these, came the even greater threat, locusts. However, writing from Mologa, a correspondent to the Leader on 3 December 1887, had a useful comment to make: - "I have noticed that the garden flower called larkspur is a deadly poison to them, and wherever there is a larkspur there is sure to be seen a heap of dead grasshoppers. They do not eat the plant away at once, for I have stood and watched them at it; some of them as soon as they light on it give a kick and fall floundering on the ground and die in a few minutes, while others of, I suppose, a more hardy nature take a bite or two and meet the same fate as their comrades. This plant is likely to prove valuable for the purpose of poisoning these insects, and I am sure that if its effect was more largely known, and if it was cultivated throughout the infested districts, it would cause a visible decrease in their numbers." The Editor of the Leader was impressed and, at the end of the report, was a brief note: - "[Will you oblige by sending a specimen in flower of the Larkspur. Ed. L.]"

So, it happened that the 1887-1888 harvest did not realise expectations, despite its having been, according to the Milloo correspondent whose report appeared in the Bendigo Advertiser on 7 January 1888, "a remarkably good growing season." To add to the losses caused by the pest infestations already described, "heavy winds and storms at Christmas time did a considerable amount of damage, causing huge patches of the crop to lie down, never to rise again." Hot and dry weather prevailed throughout January, made more disagreeable by the dust carried by the strong westerly winds. On 25 February, the Terricks correspondent to the Weekly Times noted that a large number of farmers were selling out and moving to other parts of the colony – a feature he felt did not speak well for the future success of the district. On 29 February, the Milloo correspondent to the Bendigo Advertiser reported that Mr Royle of Milloo, was one of three local farmers who had successful sales of horses, cattle, farming implements, machinery and household furniture at about that time. Two of the properties had been sold, the other leased for a number of years.

The hot weather might not have been responsible for the extent of illness that was experienced in the district in the early months of 1888, but it would have exacerbated the situation. One death in late January, which was actually attributed to the severe heat, was that of the youngest child of the Hardiman Family of Terricks. The Gray Family, also of Terricks, lost a daughter to diphtheria in January 1888, and on 28 January, the Ovens and Murray Advertiser reported that another daughter of the Gray Family was seriously ill with diphtheria and was not expected to survive. The sad fact is that the Grays had also lost a son and a daughter due to diphtheria in December 1887. On 10 April 1888, the Bendigo Advertiser carried the report that: - "Diphtheria has unfortunately made its unwelcome appearance" in Pannoomilloo, where it had taken the life of Thomas, the son of Mr and Mrs Thomas Doyle. Thomas was the third child lost to the Doyle Family in little more than a year. Their children, Margaret and Edmund, died in 1887, due to heat-effected illness, though not diphtheria in that instance. However, diphtheria was a dangerous, and highly contagious illness, and it remained in our district until at least July 1888. It was the cause of several more local deaths, including that of a little daughter of the Windridge Family. Due to fear of the illness, school attendances were down right across the region.

Nevertheless, the schools remained functioning and on 17 February 1888, the Elmore Standard reported that Board of Advice No 317, whose area of responsibility included the State School at Pannoomilloo, had "been making great improvements with the amount of money granted them, at the various schools under their charge." (When free and compulsory education was introduced in Victoria in 1873, the local management of groups of schools in specified areas was the responsibility of Boards of Advice, the forerunners of today's School Councils. Each Board consisted of 5 to 7 people, elected by ratepayers living in the school district. Boards were abolished in 1910, when they were replaced by School Committees; one Committee to represent each individual school.) The report went on to say that some of the schools within No 317's area had "been open for several years unfenced, owing to the Government only subscribing half of the cost. But the older established ones are now to have fences erected as soon as possible, and as some of the teachers have planted the grounds with trees obtained from the State Nursery, there will soon be a great improvement visible."

There'll be more next time. 'Bye until then,

Marg O'Brien

The Australian Professional Rodeo Association recently announced the 2021 Australian Champions and amongst them were Locky locals Terry Evison and Cherie O'Donoghue.

Also a note of interest is that our local Giddings Co sponsored one of the competition sections, well done Giddings!

Cherie's name is now on the honours board SEVEN TIMES in the last 20 years. Cherie won her first Australian All Round title in 2001 and turned that into a trifecta, winning again in 2002 and 2003. In 2003 she also won the APRA Australian Breakaway Roping title, which she won a further four times, in 2010, 2015, 2018, 2019. Cherie won the Australian All Round title again in 2005, 2006 and 2013. Now, eight years after her last APRA Australian All Round Cowgirl title and 20 years since her first, Cherie has done it again. 20 years in the top ranks of any sport is an awesome achievement... So we extend an extra special congratulations to Cherie.

STEVE BROOKS ENDORSED AS LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR NICHOLLS

Cobram Secondary College teacher, and local farmer 38 year old Stephen Brooks has been endorsed as the Liberal Party candidate for Nicholls in the upcoming Federal Election.

"I recognise that this is an enormously diverse electorate, stretching from the Murray to Broadford. We are culturally and economically diverse, a great place to live, but in the last six years our issues have slipped off the radar in Canberra." Steve said.

"I will immediately contact all of the communities in Nicholls to introduce myself and to start acting on federal concerns."

"Politics should be a place that resolves the issues that confront us locally, nationally and internationally. I want to restore the electorate's faith in their local member. I want people to know that "Brooksy has your back on this, he will listen, and then take action," Steve Brooks said.

Sharman Stone, former Liberal member for Murray, now Nicholls, is hugely supportive of Steve's candidature. "I am so pleased and relieved to see this experienced, keen, energetic young man ready to take up the fight in Canberra," she said.

"This is a tough job and not for the faint hearted but I know Steve has got what it takes. He will never stop trying, and will listen and act", she said. "And as a Liberal Steve will be at the table where and when the decisions are made. He will be on the top team, not alone, peering through the window, or having to vote with Labor."

Steve Brooks is a fourth generation local born in Cobram and raised on the family farm and went to secondary school in Shepparton. He worked overseas as a wheat trader and business man before returning home to start his own orchard. He is also a local secondary teacher.

"Teaching gave me a deep understanding of the pressures on our young people and their families, especially during COVID", Steve said.

He lists water security, business development, the environment, employment, child care, health, aged care, education, training and pathways to jobs as some of the key areas where he will work with people to deliver change for the good.

"I now live in Cobram, but have just rented a flat in Shepparton so I can better reach all of the 25,000 square km electorate during the campaign, " Steve said. "I am determined to meet as many people as soon as possible, and I also want people to connect with me on social media. The election could be as early as March so there is no time to lose," he said.

SUMMER SPECIAL

Heat kills more Australians than any natural disaster

- Extreme heat can affect anybody.
- Heat can cause illnesses such as heat cramps and heat exhaustion which can lead to the life-threatening condition, heatstroke. Heatstroke is fatal in up to 80% of cases. Those most at risk are older people, young children and people with a medical condition.

Hot Heat Tips

Survive the heat this summer with these five simple tips:

- Drink plenty of water- Keep a full drink bottle with you
- Never leave anyone in a car- Never leave kids, adults or pets in cars – the temperature can double in minutes.
- Stay somewhere cool- Spend as much time as possible in cool or air-conditioned buildings
- Plan ahead- Cancel non-essential outings, check that your fan or air-conditioner works well and Stock up on food, water and medicines so you don't have to go out in the heat.
- Check in on others- Look after those most at risk in the heat – your neighbour living alone, older people, young children, people with a medical condition and don't forget your pets

Two in three Australians will be diagnosed with skin cancer by the age of 70

Protect yourself in five ways from skin cancer

Most skin cancer can be prevented by using good sun protection. When you cover things, they last longer. Same goes for you and your skin.

MEDIA RELEASE

Peter WALSH

MEMBER FOR MURRAY PLAINS | LEADER OF THE NATIONALS

A better deal

THE NATIONALS
for Regional Victoria

WALSH PUTS THE BRAKES ON CALLS TO LOWER REGIONAL SPEED LIMITS

The Nationals leader and Member for Murray Plains, Peter Walsh, says it has been a deadly start to the year on Victorian regional roads and instead of commissioning urgent repairs, the Andrews Labor government's solution is to lower the speed limit.

Mr Walsh said already seven people have died on regional and rural roads in the first two weeks of the New Year.

He said that was five more than for the same period last year – and changing speed limits on open roads is not even a band-aid solution let alone a long-term answer to the problem.

“Recent calls to lower speed limits on some regional highways to as slow as 80km/h is a pathetic response which ignores the fact that roads, such as the Western Highway between Ararat and Ballarat, are crumbling.

“Stretches of the road are getting so bad the Andrews government could lower the speed limits to walking pace and they would still be a risk.”

Mr Walsh said under the Andrews Labor government proposal, Victorians would be forced to factor in extra travel time on both short and long trips, while the roads would not only not remain in the same dangerous condition, but they would also continue deteriorating.

He said the poor condition of too many regional Victorian roads is putting driver safety at risk, while country Victorians dodge potholes on their way to work.

“Instead of supporting regional communities by investing in roads for Victorian drivers, the Andrews Government's solution to pay for its budget-busting major road projects in Melbourne is to suck all the money out of regional Victoria,” Mr Walsh added.

“The Nationals have made regional Victoria's transport network – road and rail – a priority when elected and will allocate significant dollars to get the job done right,” he said.

“Road asset management was slashed by 25 per cent in this year's budget, while the Andrews Labor Government's city-focused West Gate Tunnel project blew out by a further $1.9 billion in December alone.

“Rural roads are used for so much more than just commuters,” Mr Walsh said. “Particularly at this time of year, regional roads are shared by agricultural machinery and freight and everyday users – that situation gets even more crowded when school returns.

“The government's solution to reduce speed limits, rather than simply fix the roads, rubs salt into the wound of regional Victorians.”

ANDREWS COWERS OUT OF SIGHT AS VICTORIA'S HEALTH CRISIS COLLAPSES TO ITS CODE BROWN

The Nationals leader and Member for Murray Plains, Peter Walsh, has condemned the Andrews Government's decision to declare a Code Brown across Victoria's health system.

Mr Walsh said the Andrews government has been in power for seven years – and has had two years of pandemic – to prepare for the numbers it knew were coming; and it has done nothing.

“Andrews' Code Brown is, pure and simple, his admission of the severity of the crisis in Victoria's health service.

“Healthcare workers face the prospect of being recalled from leave as hospitals struggle to fill shifts due to chronic staff shortages caused by the Andrews Government's lack of planning and preparation,” Mr Walsh explained.

“And the man who, for the past two years, has been lecturing us on Covid every day, was nowhere to be seen when this spectacular failure had to be announced,” he said.

“While the panic stations in the Health Department won't reach as far as regional hospitals such as Echuca and Swan Hill in my electorate; bigger regional services, such as Bendigo, have been dragged into the chaos.”

Mr Walsh said in Melbourne; ambulances are now ramping regularly, dental, and elective surgery wait lists are blowing out and now IVF services are being suspended for months; placing an untold emotional burden on families and the health conditions of sick Victorians are deteriorating further, putting the lives of Victorians at risk.

He said the Code Brown “was code for a declaration, a confession” that indicated just how dire Victoria's health crisis is.

“Two years ago; Daniel Andrews labelled our health system ‘world class’ and claimed it was ‘well-prepared’ to deal with an outbreak,” Mr Walsh said.

“The Premier told Victorians at the time that his government was putting in measures that would support our health system to manage the pandemic,” he said.

“A surge capacity of staff and 4000 ICU beds were promised. Neither were delivered. Not even close.

“For two years Victorians have had the harshest of lockdowns to enable our health system to be prepared to cope with demands from Covid cases.

“As we enter our third year of the virus, it is now beyond denial the Andrews government's escalation of incompetence ensures it has failed in managing even the most basic elements of the pandemic response.”

A situation Mr Walsh blamed on neglect and mismanagement from the Premier down.

“It is important our health services are adequately staffed and resourced to deal with the omicron surge – however this week's Code Brown declaration sadly demonstrates the Andrews Labor government has not just failed to ensure our health system is prepared – it has failed, pure and simple.”

BLANKET SURGERY BAN IS ANDREWS TAKING ANOTHER SLEDGEHAMMER TO STATE'S WELLBEING SAYS WALSH

The Nationals leader and Member for Murray Plains, Peter Walsh, says the Daniel Andrews Code Brown is achieving nothing in major private hospitals across regional Victoria – apart from creating genuine pain and distress.

Mr Walsh said specialists using private hospitals in key regional hubs such as Bendigo, Ballarat and Geelong have protested the suspension of elective surgery.

And now been told by Premier Andrews there was more to consider than the request of a few, he said.

“As soon as we can come out from the Code Brown (emergency declaration), as soon as we feel that it is safe and that we have significant capacity to resume services, that is exactly what we will do,” Mr Andrews told media yesterday.

“With the greatest respect to the surgical community, they do one part of the work, they have got to be supported by teams of people,” Andrews said.

“It is very rare that there would be a surgeon providing care to a patient. Even a day procedure, there are other members of the team and those other members are very high need at the moment.

“We are employing all sorts of people in different ways. But we have significant pressure in the system.”

But Mr Walsh said hospitals have been telling cancelled patients none of their staff have been called on to do anything.

“I have been receiving calls from constituents confused and concerned about yet another Daniel Andrews kneejerk reaction.

“I have people calling me and asking if I can do something to help, but as always this government refuses to listen to anyone.”

Swan Hill parent Debbie White said when her daughter’s elective surgery was cancelled she rang her specialist’s rooms and was told they still have empty theatres and 50 per cent of their staff have been forced onto annual leave as they have nothing to do.

WALSH SAYS BLANKET HEALTHCARE BANS ARE A PRESCRIPTION OF PURE PANIC

The Nationals leader and Member for Murray Plains, Peter Walsh, says regional Victorians are among the hardest hit by the Andrews Labor government’s blanket bans across the healthcare system.

He said in typical Melbourne-first style, the Premier’s self-confessed panic approach of “you kind of start with the worst-case position and then try and reinstate whatever you can” has exposed to everyone in the state that our “worst-case position is having Labor in government”.

“This government’s close first, ask questions later approach is causing a lot of stress and confusion for regional patients,” Mr Walsh said.

“Daniel Andrews’ decision to impose a blanket ban on elective surgery at public hospitals, private hospitals, and day-surgery centres is unnecessarily leaving thousands of Victorians in pain and their health deteriorating while awaiting vital surgery,” he added.

“What this government still does not get is that for many regional patients; a trip to the specialist or hospital can be a two- or three-day commitment because of the travel involved.

“And then, after calls from the Victorian Liberal Nationals and public outcry, the Andrews Government yesterday reversed its decision to cancel IVF treatments – admitting these highly-specialised clinicians and facilities used for IVF weren’t required as part of the COVID-19 response.”

Mr Walsh said instead of blanket bans and backflips, we need a proportionate response that shuts down only what is necessary, so more Victorians can continue to access the healthcare they need.

He said this latest botched management of a struggling health system was simply another example of the inability of the Andrews Labor government to successfully manage anything.

“This has all been backwards. Instead of closing everything first and then reopening later, the Government should only close what is necessary in the first place,” Mr Walsh explained.

“Thousands of Victorians who could safely receive the treatment they need are being denied due to sloppy and unnecessary blanket bans.

“Just like IVF treatments, all elective surgeries and healthcare services that can be resumed safely must be done so immediately.”

FULL VICTORIAN DUCK SEASON MUST BE ANNOUNCED IMMEDIATELY SAYS WALSH

Leader of The Nationals and Member for Murray Plains, Peter Walsh, is calling on Victorian Agriculture Minister Mary-Anne Thomas to stop delaying the announcement of a full duck season for 2022.

Mr Walsh said it is an announcement that should be based on the research and science; not as a political tool to lure inner-city votes.

He said they understood the Game Management Authority has delivered its recommendations to the government; so there are no excuses for further obfuscation.

“The pandemic, the shorter seasons and the reduced bag limits have all been disappointing for hunters, they deserve a full season.” Mr Walsh said.

“Most recent data estimates duck populations have remained strong across Victoria, with estimates of between 2.9 and 3.6 million game ducks, numbers buoyed by our consecutive wet years combined with La Niña conditions over summer, have only sustained populations,” he said.

“There is simply no reason for this Minister or this Government to further reduce bag limits or the length of the season – particularly when other states have just announced full seasons.”

Mr Walsh said the economic impact of shortened season is also something the government has been happy to sweep under the carpet.

He said recreational shooters are a critical part of the regional economy; supporting local shops and businesses when they travel and “this needs to be encouraged, not destroyed”.

“This is not just about shooting; our recreational hunters will inject a massive $356 million into the regional economy – that’s the sort of numbers we need to be talking to boost our local businesses as they try to recover and rebuild.” Mr Walsh added.

“The Minister must announce a full season. Anything short of that – apart from the obvious vote hunting in Melbourne – will be yet another slap in the face of regional small business by a government which has already proved regional communities are not on its agenda,” he said.

“Rather than harvesting city votes in an election year, Daniel Andrews and his government must look beyond the outskirts of Melbourne and support regional businesses and recreators.”

LOCKINGTON BOWLS CLUB

Report - 24/1/2022

It was a huge week-end of bowls at Lockington with the Campaspe Area Pennant on Saturday followed by the Annual Waterwheel Classic Fours on Sunday.

To start the week on Monday, the final of the women's Club Championship was held between Leanne McInnes and Phylis MacFarlane. Mild weather and overhead cloud cover, the conditions were ideal for bowls. The final began with both bowlers trading ends with scores at a close footing. McInnes managed to break the shackles and picked up a couple of maximum four shots to lead 14-5. MacFarlane was trying desperately to bridge the gap, but McInnes was in demolition mode as she grabbed two more maximum shots to break away and record a 25-12 victory and record a third Club Championship title. MacFarlane was far from disgraced and could take something out of the game and the domination by her opponent. Congratulations to both bowlers.

On Sunday the club held the Annual Waterwheel Classic Fours attracting a quality field of 112 bowlers from Bendigo, Calivil, Dingee, Echuca, Elmore, Ky Valley View, Lockington, Marong, Mathoura, Moama, Pyramid Hill, Rich River, Rochester, Serpentine, Stanhope, Tongala and White Hills. At the completion of the four games of ten ends, there were only three undefeated teams to contest the five end play-offs. In the first play-off the Moama rink comprising Tony Hawley, Arch Bailey, Russell Kelly and George Thornley (s) played the Echuca four in Ian Page, Ashley French, John Dinsdale and Steve Cunnington (s). The Echuca team picked up a four on the third end to win 5-3 and win a berth in the final against another Echuca rink of June Clifford, Max Clifford, Gael Kerr and Ivan Hicks (s). The final produced some quality bowls as both teams battled to gain the edge. However, in the final stanza it was the Ivan Hicks skipped rink to gain the victory and have their names etched on the coveted Honour Board. In fact it was a rather historic moment as it is the very first time in the 52 year history of the Waterwheel Classic Fours that the names of two women have been added to the board. The team of June Clifford, Max Clifford, Gael Kerr, Ivan Hicks (s) were successful in defeating the Cunnington skipped rink 5-3 in the play-off.

At the presentations, Club President Ray Hanson congratulated the winners and Runners Up on their fine display of bowling. Hanson thanked the sponsors Northern Livestock & Property Services for their ongoing support. Further acknowledgement was extended to the green staff - Kevin Humbert and Les Brereton for the immaculate presentation of the greens. The ladies committee were thanked for the magnificent presentation of meals during the day and the efficient method in the split-lunch time to observe the COVID 19 Protocol and Density limit. Tournament Secretary Chris Stewart thanked all bowlers for their support and also acknowledged the input from Russell Shawcross in gaining so many visitors and Lorraine Appleby was thanked for her many hours in organising the tournament schedule.

Four local members were thanked for standing out when an unannounced team arrived.

A very successful tournament overall.

On Sunday the final of the BCG Regional Novice Singles was held at the Golden Square Bowling Club. Our Lockington member Sue Harris was pitted against Susan Flint in the final. The game played out to be an almost unbelievable contest, as Flint produced some telling bowls from the very first bowl to have Harris on the defensive as the lead ballooned out to an astonishing 20-2 advantage. However, Harris suddenly found the green and proceeded to win several ends to reduce the deficit to trail 16-20. Holding a close bowl for shot, Harris was close to winning the end before Flint had the ability to trail the kitty and gain that elusive shot to take final 21-16. Both bowlers were congratulated on their display and sporting spirit.

Last Tuesday the women held their Social bowls and played Pairs. The winning team was Sue Harris and Leanne McInnes (s) with one and a half wins.

Tuesday evening Sports-Barefoot bowls attracted twenty players. The winners were Milli DAngri, Andy Harris and Russell Shawcross (s) 2 wins plus 22 shots ahead of Jack Morris - Lloyd Buchanan (s) +9 and Peter Staindl - Jeff Carnie (s) + 5 shots. Thanks to Denise Gilmore and Mary Thomas for organising the teams and also to Brian Kinnane and Steve Peter for the barbecue.

On the local Pennant scene the women lost the clash with Rich River with all rinks down in the 54-89 defeat. (Annette Brereton lost to N King 13-24; Pauline Humbert l.t. P Sehestedt 19-36; Leanne McInnes l.t. P Hayes 22-29).

In the Week-end pennant both our division three and division 4B won their respective clashes against the top sides Moama and Deniliquin RSL. Division Three had two rinks up in the 64-38 victory. (Ian Johnson d. R Jackson 22-12; Grahame Turner lost to B Cuttriss 11-17; Leanne McInnes d. S Sutton 31-9). Division Four-B shared the rinks with Deniliquin RSL to win 41-36. (Bill Musgrove l.t. J Jennings 15-20; Frank Chugg d. J Wilson 26-16).

The Friday evening barbecue and practice session was well attended with the missing member Lorraine Appleby featuring in the lucky members draw.

The finals of the Bendigo Campaspe Goldfields Regional State Fours were held at the Golden Square Bowling Club on Sunday. Congratulations to the Moama rink comprising Colleen Maslen, Marilyn Rehe, Marilynn Stephenson and Mary Spizer (s) on winning the title. The rink defeated another Moama team of Cheryl Doherty, Mia Young, Kath Wastell and Sandra Connolly (s) 19-12 in the final. Both teams won their semi-final in convincing fashion.
