“Lockington - Lines in Time”

Hello again Everyone,

We've reached 1896, as we've been looking back at the newspapers of the day to learn how people fared in our district, from the Selection Era of the 1860s and 70s until the township of Lockington was formed. Drought conditions prevailed throughout 1895, and right into mid-1896 but, in parts of the district, there were some showers in late winter and early spring. As the Tennyson correspondent wrote to the Elmore Standard on 7 August 1896, it was hoped that the 38 points [9.5 mms] which fell there would “do a lot of good to grass and crops” which were “rather backward.” To the north and west of the region, there were no such hopes. A Mr D Robinson, of Dean, who had recently visited the Terricks and Mount Hope districts, was quoted in the Ballarat Star on 3 September 1896: - “The drought has been of a very serious character, and in many places there was hardly a blade of grass left. On one farm 70 head of stock had died in three months for want of fodder, and the signs of distress were on every hand, and the sufferers very numerous.”

In the meantime, opportunities to gather socially may have helped the people of northern plains to cope. Many of these events were organised by the various church communities. For example, on 29 July 1896, about three hundred people were present at a picnic, held that afternoon, in Mrs John Steen's paddock, mainly for the children who attended Sunday School at the Milloo Bible Christian Church. As reported by the Bendigo Advertiser on 31 July, the successful programme extended into the evening, when a concert was held in the church building. On 28 August 1896, the Elmore Standard reported on the anniversary celebrations enjoyed by the Sunday School children of Warragamba at their local Wesleyan Church. On this occasion, the programme, which began with sermons and hymns in the afternoon and evening of Sunday 23 August, concluded with a line-up of light entertainment on the Monday evening.

Cricket was still being played by the various local clubs in the winter and spring months, when farming families were not too busily engaged in cropping. Weekly meetings of the Mutual Improvement Associations were well-attended, and on 4 September 1896, the Elmore Standard reported that the members of the Tennyson M I A had held their annual concert, in Mrs O'Brien's Hall at Tennyson, on 26 August. The attendance was reported to have been “very good,” and every item was “capitally rendered.” Other events reported in September, were in the nature of “Farewells.” On 17 September 1896, the Bendigo Advertiser noted that Mr John P Carew, who had been teaching at the Pine Grove State School, had been transferred to Ferntree Gully. On Monday evening, 21 September, as reported in the Elmore Standard next day, residents of Tennyson gathered at the Pitts Family home, to farewell the local blacksmith, Mr J Brown and Mrs Brown, who would be leaving the district that week for Ellesmere, where Mr Brown would carry on a blacksmithing business. Mr Brown had been an active member of both the Tennyson M I A and the Philharmonic Society. Later in the year, the congregation at St David's Church, Milloo, bid a reluctant goodbye to the Rev C H Zercho, who had been appointed to Dookie, where as reported in the Standard on 24 December, he would conduct his first service on Christmas Day.

For the remainder of the year, most of the reports coming into the newspapers from the correspondents across the northern plains, concerned the weather and the crops. The skies continued to deliver showers periodically and, as the Bendigo Advertiser reported from Rochester on 5 September 1896, the outlook for the farmers was encouraging, notably in Bamawm, Pannoobamawm and Diggora South, though further rain would be needed. Further west, the rain had come too late for successful crops, but it would help the graziers. Hot dry winds later in the year briefly gave concern in the Tennyson district but, on 20 November 1896, the Melbourne Age reported that crops were turning out better than expected in Milloo, Pannoomilloo, Tennyson, Pine Grove, and Pannoobamawm. Fortunately, the scattered thunderstorms that occurred at about that time across the region, did not damage the crops but two stacks of oats in a paddock of Mr A Oliver of Diggora, were struck by lightning and burnt.

End of year events included a concert held on 23 October 1896, at Pannoomilloo, in aid of the State School children's prize fund. The report, which appeared in the Bendigo Independent on 28 October, proclaimed it to have been an excellent programme which resulted in a financial success. On 20 November, the Elmore Standard reported that the first annual concert of the Tennyson Philharmonic Society, held on the previous Friday evening at Mrs O'Brien's Hall, had also been highly successful. One other success story reported from Tennyson in the year 1896, concerned the “splendid road” that would soon come to be, “from Prairie [the railway station on the Bendigo-Swan Hill line] to Rochester.” Councillor Allan had been the first to discover the value of [swamp] cement for roadmaking purposes, and as the Bendigo Independent noted on 5 August, the Echuca Shire Council was putting a top dressing of this cement on the various formations on the Prairie Road, to great advantage.

We'll look at 1897 next time. 'Bye until then,
Marg O'Brien.

THANK YOU GWEN FIEDLER

When I became involved with the Lockington Community News in 1986, three years after its beginning, I was warmly welcomed by a great team of volunteers – the ones who did the printing at the school, folding, stapling and distributing, and attending meetings. One of this team, who so willingly worked for the paper and the community from its beginning was Gwen Fiedler, who after 40 years, has handed in her role of enveloping, addressing, stamping and posting the paper to Subscribers. She has served the community so freely and lovingly in many aspects, and that being more than the Locky News. I thank you Gwen on my behalf and for the community.

Beryl Marshall.

GWEN'S COMMUNITY COMMITMENT

Many community members would aspire to be as committed and diligent as Gwen Fiedler.

Over the years Gwen has been a constant within our local Community Groups and in her role as Justice Of The Peace, none more-so than for our Locky News.

Gwen's involvement with The Locky News started whilst the paper was in its infancy, and continued right up until the present. She has been a valuable team member in the posting out of the papers to our subscribers, a team member who will be sorely missed from our tight knit team of volunteers.

We sincerely thank Gwen for her contributions on the Committee and the volunteer team, and wish her a happy and healthy "retirement".

LOCKINGTON BOWLS CLUB REPORT

12 June 2023

The club held the Annual General Meeting last Monday evening attracting a fine gathering of members. Club President Neil Haines welcomed all present and asked Lorraine Appleby to chair the Election of Office Bearers. Appleby congratulated Neil Haines on his work effort during the past twelve months in the role as President.

Election of Office Bearers: President: Neil Haines. Senior Vice President: John van den Bosch. Junior Vice President: Lloyd Buchanan. Secretary: Mary Thomas. Assistant Secretary: Kim Ray. Treasurer: Dave Thomas. Tournament Secretary: Chris Stewart. Selectors: Ian Johnson (Chairman) plus 2 skippers from Division Three, one from Division Four and One from Division Five. Bar Committee: Dave Thomas – Manager. Alan Kauffman, Phillip Cunnington, Ray Hanson, Russell Shawcross.

In his annual Report Neil Haines thanked all members for their support during the past season. A special thank-you was directed to the ever hard working Ladies Committee as acknowledgment for their tremendous effort in raising $12,000 for the club finances through their fund-raising. All committee's were thanked while the Greens staff Kevin Humbert and Les Brereton received special thanks. The Club will decide on the Pennant Divisions in due course.

The club has been active with Social bowls on a Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. Last Wednesday the game of Scrounge was cancelled due to inclement weather when it rained continuously.

Saturday afternoon produced better conditions with twenty odd players enjoying the ideal conditions. Steve Peter was the star of the day amassing a mammoth tally of 73 points to win the day. Other bowlers to feature included Brian Kinnane, Graham Turner and Ray Hanson.

On the holiday Monday, the club held a bowls day including a special Pig-on-Spit which attracted a number of bowlers. The winning score on the day belonged to Cindy Felmingham on 45 points ahead of Ray Hanson, John Dowie, Graham Turner, Brian Kinnane and Russell Shawcross. Special competition winner was Kim Ray while Ryder Murray won the Spider competition. The club thanked the organisers of the day in Ian Johnson and Lloyd Buchanan for their amazing effort in filling the green and the cooking of the Pig. Mary Thomas, Kim Ray, Brian Kinnane, Denise Gilmore plus extras were acknowledged for their support on such a successful afternoon.

The club will endeavour to make this day an annual event.

Congratulations to all local bowlers who are participating in the Australian Open on the Gold Coast.

19 June 2023

With the winter weather setting in, the numbers at the popular Scrounge event on a Wednesday have been affected. However the conditions did not deter the strong belief that you may bowl in Rain, Hail or Shine.

The results on the day were in the high scoring bracket again. Ray Hanson returned the best score on the day with 52 points to win the rink ahead of Steve Peter 49. Graham Turner held his good form together to win the other rink.

On Saturday another small field braved the conditions to play Scrounge. Alan Kauffman was the clear winner on the day with a great tally of 54 points to outpoint Neil Haines and Frank Chugg. Terrill Westwood was runner up to John Santamaria on the other rink scoring 45 points to 56. Hopefully the weather will improve for this week of bowls.

The Bowls Australia Open is currently being held on the Gold Coast and several local venues. Local bowlers have been competing and have performed very well. In the Singles championship Mick Humphreys (Mathoura), Peter Nesbitt (Rich River), Peter Campbell (Moama, Kevin Anderson (Moama), Geoff Beattie (Kyabram), Mitch Sidebottom (Tallgaroopna) and Brad Holland (South Bendigo) all won their respective sections. Campbell and teammate Kevin Anderson drew each other in the first knockout round with Anderson progressing to the fourth round. Nesbitt was eliminated in round three while Beattie and Holland made it to the third round. Mitch Sidebottom was eliminated in the quarter finals. In the women's section Cassandra Millerick (Moama) has made the semi-finals of the Singles championship and will play on Wednesday.

Several local bowlers are competing in the Fours championship which started on Monday. Moama bowlers Colleen Maslen and Sandra Connolly are combining with two Queensland bowlers. Mick Humphreys will skip a Mathoura rink while South Bendigo will be represented by Brad Holland, Matt Robertson, Guy Maddigan and Steve Gale.

Good bowling to all bowlers for the rest of the Championship.

FLOOD SUBMISSIONS
A LITANY OF COMMUNITY PAIN SAYS WALSH

The Nationals leader and Member for Murray Plains, Peter Walsh, says the Parliamentary Upper House Inquiry into the 2022 Flood Event in Victoria was back in Rochester on Wednesday night after the deadline for submissions was extended a further two weeks.

A submission workshop was held in Rochester Secondary College by the Legislative Council environment and planning committee to encourage more residents to lodge submissions and walk them through the process of writing a more impactful document.

The inquiry has already received more than 700 submissions from across the state – with almost 100 of the first 200 from flood-ravaged Rochester, and counting.

Mr Walsh says his office has analysed the first 200 submissions posted online and he is alarmed at what the figures reveal.

He says of those submissions already public, mental health impacts has become the number one ranked issue for flood victims.

Followed closely by ineffective flood mitigation strategy, losing everything and still being displaced eight months after the floods.

“To compound the overwhelming number of mental health claims, number five on the list was physical health impacts,” Mr Walsh says.

“My office is still getting calls and visits from people who have now been out of their homes and their community for almost nine months – while others seem to be fighting a losing battle with insurers,” he added.

Legislative Council environment and planning committee researcher Kieran Crowe told the Rochester workshop despite what people think, the submissions to the inquiry were incredibly valuable.

Kieran says some people think their individual problems won't be heard and won't matter to anyone in government anyway.

However, he says only the people who lived through the flood, people who lost a little or a lot, can give an important firsthand account of what really happened to them.

“The inquiry can only write its report based on the information it receives, which is why every individual account is so important,” he says.

Mr Walsh says the submissions he has seen, littered with such simple appeals as “please help”, “please do whatever it takes so this doesn't happen again” and “we lost everything” are bad enough, but pale by comparison with others.

He says elderly residents of flood affected towns have not only declined in health, too many have been reported as dying while still stuck in emergency or temporary accommodation.

“One woman said ‘seeing your mother spend her final days in substandard living conditions is distressing and depressing, something we will grieve for a long time and from which we may never recover’,” Mr Walsh says.

“Many submissions focused on the losses from the floods and the frustration of dealing with the both the insurance industry and applications for government grants,” he says. But one submission managed to coalesce all that data in a depressing but accurate assessment: “Unfortunately, ‘we lost everything’ does not just mean people lost their home or possessions, which would be devastating enough”.

“No, this loss extends far beyond this,” she says.

“It means they have lost contact with their friends (as so many have been dispersed in different directions), their daily support networks, their town services, living close to family and home/life security, living in their familiar environment, and, heartbreakingly, too many pets.

“Those who were not inundated still have their homes but lost their community because everyone around them was (and still are) displaced.”

Later this year the Inquiry will kick off a series of public meetings to hear firsthand from people affected by the floods. The first hearing will be in Rochester on August 23 and in Echuca the following day.

MILLOO CWA REPORT

There was a small attendance at our June meeting, with the President and Secretary both being away on holidays.

Discussion took place on who to get to supply entertainment at the Echuca Group Conference to be held at Milloo on the 29th August. One member reported that she had put an application in for funding for a flood victim in Rochester who is not a member of CWA and was pleased to report they had received $1000 from CWA disaster relief fund.

It was decided not to have a branch competition, just to have a display of cushions. The individual competition of 4 Anzac biscuits will remain.

International Officer Norma gave her usual interesting report on the Country of study Namibia. It is the first African country to incorporate the environment in their constitution. The capital is Windhoek, the official language is English. Nature reserves cover 17% of the country.

Saturday 17/06 – Club Championships Grand Final Day. The race for the Club Champion title saw Brett Stone lead Mat Dennis by 3 shots at the start of the day. Brett had a shaky start, and his lead was cut to 2 shots after 4 holes. A birdie on the 7th steadied the ship and with solid play, Brett's lead extended to 6 shots after 9 holes.

Brett held his nerve with a solid inside 9 to finish with rounds of 75-77-78=230 to seal his first Club Champion title. Runner-up was Grant Humbert (77-84-76=237), followed 5 shots further back by Mat Dennis and Ash Portwine, both on 242.

B Grade was delicately poised at the start of the day with Trav Mancer leading by 3 shots from Jason Wakefield, Steve Holt and Stu Newton. In a round of many ebbs and flows, Stu Newton took the lead after the 4th, but Steve Holt then birdied the 5th to hit the front, which he held until the 9th, when Trav and Stu hit the front.

Trav took the outright lead after the 10th, but was joined again by Steve Holt in front after the 14th. Trav parred the 15th to again take the lead outright by a shot, which extended to 2 after the 17th.

There was a 2 shot turnaround on the 18th, when Steve parred the hole to tie the contest, both finishing on 260. Jason Wakefield (261) was just one shot behind, with Stu Newton only one shot further back on 262. Next Saturday Trav and Steve will play 18 holes to determine the winner of the title.

Ron Dixon had a 4-shot lead at the start of the day in the contest for the C Grade title. With a solid first 9 he extended his lead, before ultimately winning by 6 shots with his 3 rounds of 93-98-97=288. Runner-up was Mark Lyons (95-101-98=294) with Tom Scurrah (95-104-100=299) in third place.

The A Grade nett title was won by the in-form Ash Portwine with 3 terrific rounds of 70-65-69=204, clearly the best in the club for the championships. Brett Stone (70-72-73=215) was next best, followed by Kevin Humbert (70-71-75=216).

The B Grade net title was another close finish, with Trav Mancer (68-66-81=215) one shot in front of Steve Holt (73-65-78=216), followed by Jason Wakefield and the fast-finisher Ian Maddison, tied on 217.

Mark Lyons won the C Grade nett title with his scores of 70-76-74=220. Next best was Ron Dixon (71-76-75=222) and then Tom Scurrah (70-80-75=225).
